Internship Design Research UX Design

Apply now: ibm.biz/studiosboeblingen

Still studying? Passionate about design? We're looking for interns who will create delightful experiences for users in our Design Studio in Boeblingen (Stuttgart area).

IBM Design's mission is simple: put the user at the center of our products. If you are a passionate problem-solver, able to empathize with users and turn that empathy into design insights, we want you to join us in creating design experiences.

Join our talented designers and engineers to create new generation user interfaces and interactive prototypes for web and mobile applications. Discover and improve your skills in an agile development environment and learn to apply IBM Design Thinking in your daily work to collaborate effectively with different stakeholders. Be part of an international product team, train your skills and expertise as UX Designer or Design Researcher and gain insights in other design disciplines. Portfolio required. Duration: 6 months
